Paddling Clinics come to Huntsville

Want to improve your stroke, practice marathon paddling technique or ensure you keep pace with the cut-off time?

Marathon paddling coach Chris Near is hosting a series of clinics this season in Huntsville.

Chris will be hosting regular paddling sessions in June and July for intermediate level paddlers wishing to learn and practice marathon techniques and racing skills. These sessions will help introduce you to marathon technique and build a base for the Algonquin Outfitter Big East River X and MRX. Technique will focus on canoe but kayaks and SUPs are welcome to join. Locations in Huntsville will alternate between "Camp Kitchen," Goodwin Park and Avery Beach Park. Clinics will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings commencing May 30th and ending July 20th. The start time for each paddle will be 6pm and each session will take up to 2 hours. Mondays will focus on technique and Wednesdays will focus on building speed; tempo paddles and time trials.

Participants must be full members of OMCKRA. A couple of weekend clinics could be organized at different locations and times if there is enough interest. For more information please contact Chris Near - csnear@hotmail.com.
